coast growers, who export one-third of their crops, asked the committee to increase the tariff on hops from 12 to 24 cents a pound.

The increase was asked for, they said, for the purpose of keeping down im portations from Germany and Austria, Even Chairman Payne was aroused by the request for a 100 per cent increase in the schedule. He said he could not Miss McEwen a Bride. see the necessity for it.

Growers State Their Case.

Herman Klaber, of Portland, Ore., and E. C. Horst, of San Francisco, appeared for the hop growers.

"What do you suppose would happen we increased the duty on hops?" asked Chairman Payne.
"The importation would decrease," repried Mr. Horst with finality.

"It's more probable that the amount of hops in the beer would decrease,' retorted Mr. Payne.

"Is there anything you can raise out of the ground without the aid of this hotbed of high protection?" asked Mr.

Clark, Mr. Horst admitted that there were several crops which could be raised profitably. 'Well, why under the sun, don't you do it?" exclaimed Mr. Clark, "and quit this business of selling at a loss and everlastingly asking Congress to protect
